Megan Milen posted:

Mildred was my GG (Great Grandmother). I loved her very much. Not many people my age were able to know their great grandparents as well as I knew mine. She made everyone feel as if they were her favorite. She was truly one of a kind, not like any other grandparents out there. She put a smile on everyone's face when she walked into a room; and when you would see her, you just wanted to talk to her just so you could see her laugh and smile. I put a letter in her casket saying, "I promise to never look back and think of how sick she was in the end; instead, when I look back I will only think of the good memories that we shared". R.I.P. GG, you will forever be in my heart. (And I will always cherish the grandchildren bear). I love you.
